Student Organizations Report
Baccalaureate of Science in Nursing Program

The Guayama campus promotes the participation of students in various student organizations. They offer enriching experiences where leadership development, decision-making, exchange of ideas and community service are encouraged, among other aspects. Student organizations are academic, professional, cultural, recreational, social, religious, sporting or service organizations that carry out countless activities inside and outside the University. The objectives of student organizations must be consistent with the University's Vision, Mission, and Goals.
